Statistically, females are most often victimized by someone they know.

Females who are 20-24 years of age are at the greatest risk of non-fatal intimate partner violence.

Most cases of domestic violence are never reported to the police.

High Desert Domestic Violence Program operates a 24-hour hotline and a confidential shelter for victims and their children. We are the only shelter in the state that allows families to bring their pets. Our outreach services include teaching dating violence classes at local high schools, a "temporary restraining order" clinic, group counseling, peer support groups, and a variety of classes.
